

National Income

1. National income is the measurement of flow of services and goods in economic system.
2. Comparison between National income with National wealth : The national wealth is the measurement of present assets available on a given time, while the National income is the measurement of the production power of economic system in a given time period.
3. The figures of National income are based on the financial year (i.e. from 1st April to 31st March).
4. The base of one year is taken for calculating National income, as all the seasons come in a year.
5. The data of estimation of India's National income are issued by Central Statistical Organisation (CSO).